

PROSECUTION TENDS TO FREE ROSENBLUTH

Ex-Captain Sees Mystery in Connecting Him With Cronkite's Death.

SHOCKED BY ARREST
Prosecution Awaits Word
From State of Washington on Bond Plea.

AN EXAMINATION TO-DAY
Prisoner Talks of Shooting of Major and Points to Flaws in Government's Stand.

While the Government hesitated yesterday to reveal its case against Robert Rosenbluth, former captain of the 212th Engineers, charged in a Federal warrant with complicity in the murder of Major Alexander G. Cronkite, son of Major-General Adelbert Cronkite, for the accused man, continued efforts to effect his release on bail. Recommendation that he be accepted for Rosenbluth's appearance in the State of Washington was brought to trial on an indictment charging him with murder was withheld by Assistant United States Attorney John E. Joyce pending receipt of further information from the Washington authorities. A motion for Rosenbluth's release on bail probably will be made today or Monday at a formal arraignment before United States Commissioner Hitchcock.

Major Cronkite died as the result of a bullet wound in the chest received on October 25, 1918, at Camp Lewis, while he was in charge of a company of infantry engaged in pistol practice. Roland Potier, a former sergeant, who was attached to the headquarters company as orderly to Major Cronkite, is said to have admitted that the shot that killed his commanding officer was from his pistol. He is said to have told the Government agents he would be willing to plead guilty to a charge of "involuntary manslaughter."

It was following this development that Capt. Rosenbluth was arrested three days ago at the City Club, 11 West Twelfth street, where he makes his home. Appreciates Acts of Friends. "It was not so unpleasant as it would be almost worth the experience to have the evidences of the sympathetic and kind interest of one's friends," Rosenbluth said, after he had been grilled for three hours by the Government prosecutor.

Capt. Rosenbluth says he is in ignorance of what circumstances led the Government to connect him with the shooting. He admits that the autopsy on Major Cronkite's body may have proved that the shot that killed him could not have been fired in just the manner he told the Government agents. He said that he had been told that the bullet that struck him was fired from a .38 Smith & Wesson revolver, but he had to tell the story over again he would have to say the same thing. The alleged confession of Potier, he says, is a mystery to him. Rosenbluth, however, is confident he will be able to shatter any chain of circumstantial evidence the Government may present against him. Rosenbluth's version of the shooting was that a bullet that struck a metal can was deflected, hitting Major Cronkite.

"The thing has gone so far now," he said, "that it is hard to be wiped clean of the boards."

Capt. Rosenbluth presents a brief array of facts to prove the weakness of the Government's contention that Major Cronkite's death was the result of a plot against him by his military associates. They begin with the transfer of Capt. Rosenbluth from Camp Forrest in Georgia to Lewis in Washington, which he says was made at Major Cronkite's suggestion and recommendation. That took place about four weeks before the shooting.

After Rosenbluth arrived at Camp Lewis Major Cronkite was stricken with influenza and was in the hospital until two days before he went out on the pistol practice trip. When asked if he had to tell the story over again he would have to say the same thing. The alleged confession of Potier, he says, is a mystery to him. Rosenbluth, however, is confident he will be able to shatter any chain of circumstantial evidence the Government may present against him. Rosenbluth's version of the shooting was that a bullet that struck a metal can was deflected, hitting Major Cronkite.

Surprised at His Arrest. "The fact that I was arrested at any time, but belonged to the headquarters company, Capt. Rosenbluth thinks, goes far to destroy the allegation that a plot existed to which he and the sergeant were parties."

Capt. Rosenbluth told something of the circumstances of his arrest. He said he thought when the Government agents came to him, and told him the chief wanted to see him that it was in connection with some of his work in Siberia, upon which he had made reports for the Government. On his way to headquarters of the Department of Justice he says he remarked to the agents accompanying him that he had noticed by the papers the department was investigating the death of Major Cronkite.

"I told them to remind me to tell the chief that I was present when Major Cronkite was shot," he said. "That was how surprised I was. I had no idea they wanted me in connection with the matter."

Among those who are interesting themselves in Rosenbluth's case are Col. Herbert Lehman of Lehman & Lehman; Felix M. Warburg, for whose joint distributing committee Rosenbluth was named in Europe in relief activities; Dr. Katharine Bennett Davis, under whom Rosenbluth held the post of superintendent of the Bora Reformatory at New York; Walter Frank of Kurman & Frank; and Prof. S. Stagg Whitfield. These persons have promised to produce bail in any reasonable amount to Rosenbluth's appearance any time the Government wants him.

TO REBUILD OLD HOSPITAL.
The old Sydenham Hospital on East 17th street is soon to be entirely rebuilt upon its present site. Directors of the institution report pledges as high as $100,000 from one individual. Donations have given $25,000 and several other prominent citizens have contributed like amounts. The Sydenham Hospital is non-sectarian.

HOME FOR CHILDREN LOSES 14 ARREST CRUELTY CHARGE

Warrant Issued for Woman Keeper Who Is Alleged to Have Tied Boy to Post and Covered
Him With Sheet.

Lewis M. Raisig, Justice of the Peace at Cedarhurst, L. I., issued a warrant yesterday for the arrest of Mrs. Hilda Hoffman, charged with cruelty to children and with operating a foundling home in McNeil avenue, Inwood, L. I., without a State license or a Board of Health permit. At the same time Justice Raisig sent fourteen children, ranging in age from five to ten years, who had been left with Mrs. Hoffman by their parents, to the rooms of the Brooklyn Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Mrs. Hoffman was arrested last night.

The warrant was issued by the Justice after a complaint had been made to the wife of Consistent Jesse Holt that Mrs. Hoffman had been cruel to a child, Mounir, the nine-year-old son of Emil Mounir of New York. It was charged that she had tied him to a post in the back yard and covered him with a sheet. Mrs. Hoffman, who was arrested by Justice Raisig, said that she had left the boy with Mrs. Hoffman because she works all day as a waitress and her husband as a waiter and that they were not able to hire a nurse for him. She said that she had not known anything of any ill treatment of Rupert Hoffman, although once when she was dressing him during a brief visit to the Hoffman place, she noticed bruises on his body, which he had told her were inflicted as punishment. She said she had asked Mrs. Hoffman, but when the nature of the boy's offense had been explained she did not protest further.

The names of the children, besides Rupert Hoffman, who were sent to the Society's rooms were: Morris, Henry and Solomon Glass, children of Joseph Glass, of 929 East 18th street, The Bronx; Arthur and Clarence Weinberg, children of Dr. Weinberg of Newark; Emma and Morton Stark, children of Samuel Stark, an attorney, with offices in 39 Broadway; Henrietta, Sarah and Sidney Sadur, children of Solomon Sadur, of 390 Prospect avenue, The Bronx; Florence and William Chaykin, children of 137 East 18th street; and Ruth Goodman, daughter of Mrs. Matilda Goodman. In each case the parents of the children have been notified of the action of Justice Raisig.

O'CONNOR DISCOVERS EAGER OPTIMISTS

'They're All Wrong,' He Says, in Discussing Beer in Drug Stores.

Charles R. O'Connor, State Prohibition Director, called attention yesterday to what he considers loose thinking and loose talking about the probable effect of the prohibition of beer. O'Connor's recent ruling on the prescription of beer by physicians. "My idea of an optimist," said Mr. O'Connor, "is the man who believes that the sale of beer and wine in drug stores, or even that saloon selling will be restored. Many persons seem to have caught this idea, but they're all wrong."

"The statute provides that no physician shall prescribe liquor unless after careful physical examination of the person for whom such prescription is sought, or if such examination is found impractical, then upon the best information obtainable. It also provides that not more than a pint of spirituous liquor shall be prescribed for the same person within a period of ten days."

"The chief point Mr. Palmer makes is that nothing is said about liquor other than spirits and that a physician should, therefore, not be limited in his prescription of beer and wines unless by express regulation of the prohibition commission. This regulation is necessary by Mr. Palmer's opinion are now being prepared."

Liquor valued at $10.00, chiefly whiskey, was returned to the home of Frank Speranzino, 35 Ralph avenue, Brooklyn, where it was seized March 1. Two orders, however, for Federal agents to return the liquor for the return of this liquor and a third order requiring Harold B. Dobbs, chief enforcement officer in Brooklyn, to return the liquor. Dobbs, who had been returned to court for not having returned the seizure. Finally Judge Garvin gave the defendant and the Government two days to reach an agreement, and if they failed, he said, Dobbs would be cited for contempt of court.

The liquor which has been returned was twice in the hands of the prohibition agents. It was first seized without a search warrant, and the information for the warrant used in the second seizure was the confession of the defendant. Agents under Ernest Landis, supervising enforcement agent, reported seven cases on Thursday, in each of which small seizures were made.

James Shevlin, former supervising agent for this district and now in charge in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, was in the city yesterday. He said that it is now impossible for him to make a raid on a bar in any of these three States, but that he is having trouble with booze smuggled over the border and sold in bottles by bootleggers. The Mexican supply is running low, Mr. Shevlin said, and a native drink called tequila, more powerful than moonshine, is being sent over the line as a whiskey substitute.

In a raid on 31 Norfolk street enforcement agents reported finding three floors of the building, which is a tenement, under the name of preparation of liquor. Although only ten gallons of alcohol were found and some of the agents seized thousands of bottles of liquor, the search of his cellar revealed 1,500 gallons more. He was held on a charge of manufacturing wine without a permit.

John Fernandez of 511 Greenwich street was held on a charge of buying and Arthur S. Guerra of 325 Spring street was charged with transporting back with him four thick books of notes and 7,000 photographs showing the business and industrial outlook of Europe.

Germany, he said, appears to be the only country which is working really hard. He expressed the opinion that she will be first to come back.

TAMMANY SEEKS TO SHUNT HYLAN

Organization Would Like to Run Justice Wagner, 'One of Their Own,' for Mayor.

That Tammany Hall leaders are still looking for a way to take Mayor Hylan out of the Mayoralty situation this fall was learned yesterday. They would like nothing better than to see him shunted to a sidetrack, in which case they might nominate Justice Robert F. Wagner of the Supreme Court. He would be one of their own, they figure—a Mayor who would give them all the patronage and not split it with William Randolph Hearst and his personal friends.

It also was learned yesterday that a representative of the Citizens Union had been working out on his possible attitude toward Justice Wagner. Senator James J. Walker, Democratic leader in the upper house at Albany. A local attitude was assumed, but it was learned that Tammany seriously would like to rid itself of Hylan, but does not see any present chance of doing this. They had made preparations to send him overseas when the traction issue developed. After that an understanding developed with Mr. Hearst that Hylan was to be renominated. That understanding still exists.

If you are so anxious to get rid of Hylan as City Hall, said Senator Walker to the Citizens Union men, "why don't you line up the independents behind him for election to the Supreme Court in Brooklyn? That is a job that job and would accept the nomination if he thought he could be elected. Then Tammany would name Justice Wagner for Mayor."

There is to be one vacancy in the Brooklyn judicial district this fall. The term of Justice Harrington Putnam, a Democrat, expires. It is a fact, however, Republicans say, to imagine that any sort of independent support could be obtained for Mayor Hylan as a judicial candidate. It is likely that the coming of Tammany to run some one else than Hylan will go unfulfilled.

KINGS REPUBLICANS BACK GERON FOR JOB

His Candidacy for Industrial Board Upsets Patronage.

James L. Geron of Brooklyn has received the endorsement of the Kings county Republican organization for appointment as the labor member of the reorganized Industrial Commission. For some years he has been first deputy in that department. He lives in the Twelfth Assembly district, the home of United States Senator Charles Calder.

The candidacy of Mr. Geron seems to have complicated patronage matters in Brooklyn. Mrs. Rosalie Loew Whitely has been charged with an appointment to the Industrial Commission as the woman member. Under all patronage laws one county could not expect to have two members of the same board, but it was said last night it might happen in this case.

But these candidacies seem to have wiped out of the picture the great desire of Lewis M. Swasey, Republican leader of the Seventeenth Assembly district in Brooklyn, to be one of the new tax commissioners. The place pays $3,000 a year, which is $2,000 more than he now gets as a member of the Hyman bi-parliament Tax Board. If Swasey should resign from that the Mayor would appoint him to the other Republican, so the party would lose no patronage.

Because of Jacob A. Livingston's fight for the Mayoralty, the bill is expected that Kings county will probably fare better in State patronage matters than any other section of New York city.

3 KILLED, 1 HURT
IN MOTOR ACCIDENTS
Two Children in Brooklyn and One in Bronx Dead.

Three children were killed and another seriously injured yesterday when they were run over by automobiles in different parts of the city.

MISSING VOYAGER A PERJURY WITNESS

Prosecutor Banton Inquiring
Into Disappearance of Dahl
From Vessel.

DETECTIVES DEFENDANTS
Recalls Indictment of Cops
Who Were Unable to Convict Women They Accused.

Because he was wanted as a witness on April 4 in the trial of two police detective sergeants charged with perjury, Acting District Attorney Jacob H. Banton yesterday ordered an investigation into the disappearance of Thor Dahl, the young Norwegian, who was reported missing when the steamship Bergensfjord of the Norwegian-American line reached her pier Thursday night. Dahl, who was said to be heir to a large estate left by his father, was a cabin passenger on his way to America for a pleasure trip. He was seen last when the ship was three days out from Bergen.

Yesterday it was disclosed that a process server and two others interested in the case against Detective Sergeants William B. Moloney and John J. Gannon were at the pier when the ship arrived. One of these was J. Hamilton Love, an oil operator of 54 Wall street, against whose wife the detectives testified for alleged violation of the tenement act on December 3, 1919, and Mrs. Love's attorney, Mrs. Grace Humiston. It was the testimony given by the detectives at the arraignment of Mrs. Love in Women's Court that led to their indictment on April 8, 1920, on a perjury charge.

Mr. Banton said that Moloney and Gannon testified before Magistrate Jean Norris that they entered Mrs. Love's apartment and found her with Dahl. In the record of the trial Dahl's name is spelled Dulle, but Mr. Banton said this was a stenographic error. The detectives, according to Mr. Banton, testified that Dahl was in his shirt sleeves without collar or tie and that Mrs. Love was only partly dressed.

The indictment says the detectives testified that Mrs. Love asked Dahl for money. The statement and other testimony of the detectives purporting to tell what they saw and heard was untrue, according to the indictment.

In defense of Mrs. Love it was shown that the Love family planned to leave their apartment to Dahl. He had gone to the apartment to inspect it. Gustav Dahl, superintendent of the apartment house, was one of the witnesses for Mrs. Love at the hearing, at the conclusion of which Magistrate Norris found her not guilty of the charge and dismissed the complaint.

Nothing was learned yesterday to shed any further light on Dahl's disappearance. An officer of the Bergensfjord, who was a friend of Dahl, but who desired to withhold his name, said first reports had exaggerated the amount of his wealth. Dahl, he said, inherited from $200,000 to $300,000, but instead of $750,000, as was first reported, when his father, head of a whaling syndicate, died a year or two ago.

Dahl did not drink any wine at all, said this officer, "and as far as I know he was not intoxicated. But he was thoroughly suffering from a mental ailment. His mother has been so affected for ten or twelve years. Dahl could not have thrown himself away in the vessel. He was thoroughly suffering from a mental ailment. He was washed into the sea or committed suicide. It is impossible to know which."

According to the officer's description of the young man, he was about 25 years of age and had no occupation. Dahl travelled much, but when his father asked him why he was coming to America on this occasion, his answer was: "None of your business." That Dahl was a passenger aboard the Bergensfjord was learned through a cablegram to Mr. Love from a friend in Norway.

POLICE HUNT BERNARD,
HIS BAIL FORFEITED
Warrant Out for Arrest of Fashion Show Promoter.

A bench warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of John Clark Bernard, who was the promoter of the Revue de Fashion, and his bail was forfeited because he failed to appear before Judge Charles F. Smith on Thursday. Bernard was arrested on a charge of grand larceny, to which he pleaded guilty on February 4. The charge had nothing to do with the fashion show on the Hotel Pennsylvania roof, where complaint was made by models and stage carpenters that they were not paid, but in connection with a moving picture stock exchange scheme.

Bernard was indicted for fraud, and admitted that he had obtained $200 from Norman L. Bailey of Caldwell, N. J. He made partial restitution, paying $100 to Bailey in open court, and his sentence was deferred until Thursday.

James E. Smith, Assistant District Attorney, made an investigation of Bernard's connection with the Revue de Fashion early this month, but he has made no statement as yet of his findings.

TWO MEN CRUSHED TO DEATH IN ELEVATORS

Porters Victims of Accidents in Wall Street District.

Two porters in buildings in the Wall Street section of the city were killed yesterday by elevators.

Edward O'Connor of 1985 Park avenue, an employee of the New York Stock Exchange, was crushed to death while engaged in cleaning brasses between the shafts. After the body was extricated Dr. Rose of the Broad Street Hospital was called, but could do nothing.

Early yesterday morning Altiero Deangelis was crushed to death between the elevator and the shaft on the eleventh floor of the building at 45 Broadway. He was last seen by fellow employees when he was ordered to go to the fifteenth floor to get an umbrella.

Broadway at Ninth Street,
New York
Business Hours—
9 to 5.
Telephone
Stuyvesant 4700

Wisdom Does Not Disallow the Pleasures of Life

but she permits them with moderation and discrimination. It is not a fair statement that there is even three per cent of the population of our city favoring blue laws or any kind of arbitrary or capricious enforcement of laws.

You cannot believe everything you read in the newspapers, not even upon its advertising pages, where mis-statements that should not be put in print discredit all honest advertising and honorable practices.

[Signed]
John W. Wainwright

March 26, 1921.

Easter Recital
There will be an Easter Music Recital in the Wainwright Auditorium at 2:30 today under the direction of SERGEI KLIBANSKY.
First Gallery, New Building.

Fresh Easter Plants
"Say it with Flowers" at Easter. What more perfect ambassador of love or of friendship, to old or young, well or sick, than just a pot of flowers?

Today the variety will be ample—lilies, roses, azaleas, geraniums, hydrangeas, foliage plants, and many more than we have room to mention. All fresh this morning.
Fourth Gallery, New Building.

David Cory will talk to children in the Book Store this afternoon. He is the author of "The Jumble Book," "Billy Bunny" series and "Puss in the Boot" series. The stories he will tell this afternoon from 2 to 4 will interest parents as well. Come and bring the children.
Eighth Gallery, New Building.

Get at your garden
this week-end
Hardy shrubs and rose bushes should bloom this year, if planted now.

We have 44 varieties of rose bushes at 40c each, $4.50 doz. All the popular shrubs, and grape vines, 25c each, $3.50 dozen. Flower, lawn and vegetable seeds, fertilizers, garden tools.
Seventh Gallery, New Building.

Come Practice a Little Golf today
One man who had been off the wood for several years was put back on his game in five minutes by Walter Stoddart in the Golf Studio the other day.

Unless you are in top-hole form, a little conference this afternoon with one of our golf instructors, and a little practice, will help your game a lot.

—Walter Stoddart, the pro. at Mt. Kisco Golf Club.
—George Kerrigan, the pro. at White Beeches Golf Club.
—John Farrell, the pro. at Quaker Ridge Golf Club.
—Will be here from 9 to 5 today.
Fourth Gallery, New Building.

For Little Tots
Smart Box Coats, $10
An uncommonly low price. Simply fashioned coats of herringbone and severely tailored lines and well cut shoulders and collars. Twill saten lining. Blue, tan or brown.

Coats at $16.50
A reproduction of a London model fashioned of lovely imported material in a charming shade of Joffe blue.

Adorable Frocks
A host of frocks in charming colors and white, fashioned of organdy, chambray, gingham, percale, dotted Swiss or Devonshire cloth. Some adaptations of Paris frocks, $2.95 to $10.95.

Little Boys' Suits, $2.75
Cunning small trousers of colored chambray, buttoned on to a simple blouse of striped percale. Quaint little Eton collar and cuffs adorned with a tiny fluted ruffle and hand embroidered in color.

Hats, $3.95 to $12.95
Smart tailored models in tan, brown, black or blue.

Smart Box Coats, $10
An uncommonly low price. Simply fashioned coats of herringbone and severely tailored lines and well cut shoulders and collars. Twill saten lining. Blue, tan or brown.

Coats at $16.50
A reproduction of a London model fashioned of lovely imported material in a charming shade of Joffe blue.

Adorable Frocks
A host of frocks in charming colors and white, fashioned of organdy, chambray, gingham, percale, dotted Swiss or Devonshire cloth. Some adaptations of Paris frocks, $2.95 to $10.95.

Little Boys' Suits, $2.75
Cunning small trousers of colored chambray, buttoned on to a simple blouse of striped percale. Quaint little Eton collar and cuffs adorned with a tiny fluted ruffle and hand embroidered in color.

Hats, $3.95 to $12.95
Smart tailored models in tan, brown, black or blue.

Smart Box Coats, $10
An uncommonly low price. Simply fashioned coats of herringbone and severely tailored lines and well cut shoulders and collars. Twill saten lining. Blue, tan or brown.

The John Wainwright Store
Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co.

Waiting for YOU

THE most wonderful music any pianoforte ever gave forth is waiting for you, here, in the Wainwright Piano Salons. It was played by one of the world's great artists. You may have it in your home for the Easter holidays. . . . The sweetest tones that ever issued from strings and sounding-board are waiting to be wakened into life by the touch of your hands—to fill your home with melody.

The CHICKERING Piano
The KNABE Piano
The SCHOMACKER Piano
The LINDEMANN Piano
The MARSHALL & WENDELL Piano
The J. C. CAMPBELL Piano
The BRAMBAHO Piano
The AUTOPIANO
The AMPICO Reproducing Piano

Easter is an appropriate time to begin the era of good music in your home. The way is made smooth by our policy of accepting used pianos in part payment and by according convenient terms to all desiring them.

Today the variety will be ample—lilies, roses, azaleas, geraniums, hydrangeas, foliage plants, and many more than we have room to mention. All fresh this morning.
Fourth Gallery, New Building.

Very attractive
Blouses, $4.95
The Georgette crepe blouse that has some of the characteristics of the tailored blouse is, this spring, particularly good. A little model specialized to sell today for $4.95, is of the simple, well-designed type that may be worn for tailored or sports wear.

Lovely Ribblesdale
Glazed Chintz
AU QUATRIEME
The famous Ribblesdale glazed chintz, with its background of clear green and its gorgeous pattern of roses and morning-glories in lovely rose and pink and blue, is like a bit of an old English garden brought into a room. In a country house there may be curtains or window shades of it, or transforming slipcovers that make furniture look festive instead of funereal. This chintz is 25 inches wide, and $2.50 a yard.

Second Floor, Old Building.

Dumbarton Suits
for women, $29.50
New Dumbarton suits of knit wool, for Spring.

Pockets are new, lapels are notched with this season's approved line, belts are narrow and snug, as this Spring desires, and colors are all of those favored at the moment.

Colors tan, Copenhagen blue, beige, heather mixtures, Hindustan, brown, Hague blue and black and midnight blue.

Second Floor, Old Building.

Other Glazed Chintzes
That are exquisitely patterned with roses and tulips, or small old-fashioned nosegays, or designs suggestive of old French faience are in widths varying from 24 to 36 inches and from $1.75 to $3.50 a yard.

Fourth Floor, Old Building.

THE SHOPS FOR MEN

Young Men's Suits
Just opened up
They will be ready for today's buyers. $40 to $60. A variety of designs and models in 34 to 40 sizes. We had them made by several houses which specialize in the making of clothes for young men.

In addition, they were made our way. None better.

Men's Suits, $40
We have been making and selling men's clothing for sixty years, but we have never been more satisfied with the result of our efforts than we are this Spring.

Wide choice in new suits for men, $40 to $70. Sizes for all figures.

Topcoats at $40
Just came in, a new lot of herringbone tweed topcoats—the favorite weave of 1921—in two gray and two tan effects.

Knee length; cut in the loose draping box style, and quarter lined with silk serge.

Other topcoats up to $65.

IT is not big type and big talk in the newspapers—but the quality, fashion and fair price of the goods in the store which make value and give lasting satisfaction.

Miss 14 to 20
will be interested
in this column

Suits at $39.50
Navy blue serge suits in two models with the smart straight line silhouettes. Coats may be worn with or without the narrow belts.

Home spun suits in new model with the chic little hip-length box coat. Jade, green or rust color.

Suits at $59.50
Suits of Poiret twill and tricotine—manishly tailored or with braid bound coats, or with coats embroidered, or with coats inset with narrow panels of pin tuks.

Nine out of ten young women will be able to wear these new suits—without alterations.

Coats, $49.50 and $59.50
Distinctive types of coats—severely tailored coats of fine polo cloth, covert cloth and heavy wool jersey; softly tailored coats of tricotine, with simple ornamentation of stitching, unusual collars and sleeves and one model with Tuxedo front, faced with Morocco crepe or aganella cloth of a contrasting color.

Some of the coats at $59.50 are fashioned of a new and very fine camel's hair cloth in reindeer, taupe, or natural.

New Cape at $65
is also made of the camel's hair cloth.

Modish Frocks,
$39.50, $49.50, $59.50
Excellent selection at each price—frocks of soft crepe silks, taffeta, serge and Poiret twill—and at $59.50 also of crepe meteor.

Second Floor, Old Building.

Hats for Young Girls
Tailored hats in the mushroom styles becoming to little girls, simply trimmed with ribbons, $2 to $5.

For girls in their teens—ribbon hats at $5; tailored hats of stitched taffeta, faced with straw, after a Reboux model, at $7.50.

First Floor, Old Building.

$10 to $15 Spring
Skirts for $7.75
100 little individual skirts of wool, novelty silk and wool faile.

Plaids and plain colors in blue, brown, green and lovely combinations of color that are new and favor of this spring.

Second Floor, Old Building.

Shoes, $6.50 to $9
14 styles, high and low. At $6.50—dark tan low shoes, invisible eyelets, narrow toe.

At $7—six styles of shoes, low and high, tan or black and tan brogue oxfords for the young man.

At $8—three styles, tan or black low shoes, medium toe, or the tan saddle oxford, the newest this spring, at $9. Four styles of high shoes, tan or black calfskin or black kidskin. Full toes.

38c pair for pure silk socks
1,620 pairs seconds of our 80c grades; black, white, colors; mercerized cotton cuffs, toes and heels. Be quick!

At the same price—38c—seconds of our 75c socks, as follows—

—pure silk and artificial silk mixed, mercerized cotton cuffs, toes, heels; 792 pairs with side effects of black, gray, green and brown.

Sizes 9 1/2 to 11 1/2 in the lot, but not every size in each kind.

Burlington Arcade Building.
New Building.